

This picture shows two laundresses, one at work the other not able to because her hands are cracked and sore—she has been using soap containing too much alkali. Read Prof. Leeds's report.

Gentlemen:-The sample of "IVORY" Soap which you sent to me for analysis has been received, and you will find analysis herewith. As a result, the "IVORY" Soap while strongly cleansing, leaves the skin soft and pleasant to the touch instead of harsh, uncomfortable, and liable to chap, as results from the use of many common laundry soaps, in which the ratio of uncombined to combined alkali is large. The percentage of uncombined fat in the "Ivory" is very small, hence the lather is clean, white and abundant, with entire absence of oil or grease. There are no injurious substances.

The above considerations show the "Ivory" to be a pure soap and excellent for laundry use.

It is hard to decide at once what to do, but as the attention of physicians and chemists have been directed to the relief of neuralgia and sick headlaches, many simple remedies have come into vogue. The old way of typing a bandage tightly about the crown of the head and trying to grin and bear the pain has passed out of us. Nearly every man and woman knows that he or she can go to a drug store and get something that will at least give temporary relief. Most head aches come from a disordered stomach, for which such drugs as the combinations with bromides are now manufactured. In case of headlache from weakness, or a low state of the system, antipyrine and several stimulants found at all drug stores are given. There is this about these remedies, however, that a particular drug after frequent use loses its effect, so that the dose must be constantly increased or some other drug taken. ing to service, but a quaint little tem-ple, with its curling eaves and its sim-Art Amateur. its Jacquered floor, its curious carvings. that the dose must be constantly increased or some other drug taken. Thus people who are often afflicted with headache may begin with and find relief from bromo-soda. After a little while they find it ceases to give relief. Then they go to something else. Finally they will see the necessity of placing themselves under a physician's charge. These headaches of which I have spoken are of the ordinary kind which all of us more or iess experience, but there is a more serious kind which these little simple remedies do not reach, and which continue even under a physician's treatment. Some people suffer from deepseated neuralgia. Their torments are hourible. Such victims find partial relief by keeping their heads warm I know of one lady, a constant sufferer, who sleeps with her head under her pillow. The pain is frequently caused by congestion in the head, and free circulation of the blood is the only remedy. Where the seat of the trouble can be reached through the nose, a lancet is used and a flow of blood gives instant relief. Where this can not be done, leeching and cupping can be referred them together, or united them; he rarely sang two on the same day.
